OUR MISSION

Thinking and acting in cycles has been part of our everyday lives for as long as we can remember. Something that started with the reuse of discarded truck tarps drives us to look for new solutions to sustainability issues every single day. The transition to a circular economy in which we no longer waste resources is imperative.

Here you can find out what motivates us on our journey towards a circular future: from our Impact Report and news about projects, products and materials to interesting facts about the circular economy.
